The Women's Council, of the Chamber of Commerce, will serve as a committee to meet the Winthrop students who transfer from the Seaboard to Southern here on route to Rock Hill. Arrangements have been made to facilitate the transfer of baggage here. The new students will pass through on Sept. 10th and those of the higher classes on September 15th.

The campaign for the Community Creamery Company is going forward in all parts of the county. This is so important for the development of dairying in Chester County that its value cannot be minimized. The total subscriptions to date amount to $3,750 with 10 reports from the committees appointed by the Chairman of the Community Farm Council. The Chamber of Commerce will have published a full list of those who subscribe stock after the reports submitted Sept. 14th. The Creamery Committee is composed of Messrs. R. B. Caldwell, R. E. Sims, F. H. Westbrook, Wm. Stimpfellow and H. M. DeVega.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the National Union Bank, of Rock Hill, yesterday Mr. W. R. Roddy, Sr., was elected president of the bank to succeed the late Ira B. Dunlap.

On Saturday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock, Master Charlton Howze entertained eight little friends at a birthday party, this being his eighth birthday. After several games were played they were invited into the dining room, which was decorated with red, white and blue, with the birthday cake holding eight burning candles, forming a centerpiece for the table, where cream and cake were served. Mrs. J. C. Howze was assisted in entertaining by Mesdames C. B. Gladden and W. A. Graham. Those present were Lamar Cogger, Joseph James, Billy McDonald, Jeff Robbins, Busby Allen, Banks Gladden and Leonard Dunn.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Sims, Mr. W. R. Sims and Misses Susan and Rebecca Craig were Rock Hill visitors Sunday.

The Edmore school opened yesterday morning under bright prospects, there being seventy odd pupils in attendance. Dr. J. N. Gaston, chairman of the board of trustees, was present and presided at the opening exercises. Following a prayer by Rev. E. A. Lumsden, Dr. Gaston made a few appropriate remarks and introduced the principal, William C. Reid, who made a splendid call in regard to the plans and aspirations for the school. The two body teachers, Misses Westbrook and Humphries, were also presented. R. D. Robertson was present and made an interesting short talk. Much interest was shown by the attendance of a number of the patrons.

W. D. Marrah, one of the best citizens and one of the biggest farmers of McCormick county was in the city on Saturday and in talking of the boll weevil damage said he would take 20 bales of cotton for the output of his 20 horse farm. The weevil seems to have done more damage in his section than in many others. Many say, however, that they will not average over a bale to ten acres.

Several Chester county farmers have during the past week taken advantage of the Federal Farm Loan plan and the records in the office of the Clerk of Court shows that loans amounting to $8,400 have been made within the past few days. Those who have loans on their farms or who desire to get on a cash basis should investigate the Farm Loan plan at once.

WARNING OF WIFE COMES TOO LATE

Fatal Demonstration of Supposedly Empty Pistol. Greenville Man Loses Life When Firing Weapon to Head and Pulling Trigger.

Greenville, Sept. 11.—As his wife was in the act of warning him to be careful, a revolver which he held to his head, Sam Skelton, 26, bookkeeper of this city, blew his brains out at the house in which he lived on River street here this afternoon. Young Skelton had been exhibiting the pistol to some friends that were spending the day with him and had offered to sell the weapon to one of them and when he became careless in handling the pistol, he was warned to be careful. He then unholstered the pistol and, as he thought, all of the cartridges fell out. It was then that he held the weapon to his temple, apparently to demonstrate that there was no harm in it, and while pulling the trigger, he aimed through the head with the one cartridge that remained in the chamber. His wife, having heard the warning of his friends, stopped at the door and as she begged him to be careful the fatal shot was fired. Young Skelton lived about 45 minutes after he was shot, and his bullet went clear through his head, splattered his brains on the floor and lodged in the wall beyond. He never regained consciousness.

Mr. Skelton was bookkeeper for the Riverside company, a concern established by his father, S. O. Skelton, several years ago.

MIRACLES

By Dr. Frank Crane.

The world is full of them. Life is crowded with them. In fact, it is a wholly miraculous world. It is itself the greatest of all miracles. Multiplying one Irish potato land making a dozen out of it, by putting it in the ground, is quite as amazing as the multiplication of the leaves and fishes.

And what Hindu trick can equal the farmer's, who takes a handful of wheat and scatters it on the good brown earth, and by and by comes back and reaps a bushel?

Turning water into wine was a thing that surprised the guests at the wedding in Cana, but it is any more astounding than to stick a dry twig in the ground and make it bear grapes from which wine is pressed. There are no infidels. Infidels are just a polemic term. It is an epithet we use in the game of arguing, which, as other games, is diverting but arrives nowhere.

Everybody believes in God, though he may not say that name. God is simply a label which we apply to that mysterious something that is behind, and cause those things we call forces. Whoever plants a seed, reaps a child, sends a telegram or drives an automobile, believes in, and relies upon, some cooperative force, which force he can use, but the nature thereof he knows no more than I. We are all handling the "mystery" moment. The great spirit brushes against us at every turn.

We sink at night into the miracle of sleep and at morning greet the miracle of reviving consciousness, which is quite as wonderful as being born.

We take food, and learn on how to perform the miracle of changing it into bone and muscle. The doctor gives us pills which miraculously allow our food to pass through the system in a few hours and let the miracles of life trouble along their veins.

More miracles go on in Edison's workshop than would fill two New Testaments.

A morning glory seed is taken from the clasp of a woman and all eggs after a month's waiting. A message is written in New York and simultaneously it is reproduced in Paris by means of wireless telegraphy.

A woman with a broken heart goes to her closet and cries out to the infinite; she comes out brave, serene, at peace. What hand has been laid upon her soul?

Out of the mystery we come through the gates of birth; into mystery we go through the door of death; and thence out of the mystery we have never left the skirts of mystery.

Miracles? A wise man said that fools wonder at the unusual; wise men at the usual.

APPLIED ANATOMY.

Where can a man buy a can for his knee.

Or a key for a lock of his hair? Of course his eyes are an academy.

Because there are pupils there. In the corner of his head what pupils are found?

Who travels the bridge of his nose? Does the calf of his leg become hungry at times?

And devour the corn on his toes? Can the crook of his elbow be sent to jail?

Where's the shade from the pain of his hand? How does he sharpen his shoulder blades?

I'm hanged if I understand. —American Legion Weekly.

THE BOLL WEEVIL AND HIS WINTER QUARTERS.

Clemson College. —The cotton boll weevil finds his hotel for the winter in old stumps, weeds and dead grass in the field. He will find his winter quarters in unkept terraces, weedy ditch banks and fences, in neglected orchards, in underbrush along the woods and railroad, etc.

The weevil requires for successful wintering a place with a given amount of moisture, falling in such places as old mounds and debris. Therefore the cover crop that is used for preventing land washing and the leaching of soil fertility, and for maintaining soil moisture is of the utmost value under weevil conditions, because it acts as a cleansing crop which keeps down weeds and winter food plants and also destroys the weevil's eggs and the green, etc., and other destructive insects during the winter.

It is now time for farmers to think about these matters and not let this work go until the last moment, advises Prof. A. F. Conradi, entomologist who says that we want to clean up our farms this year and do it before the winter. These wintering places mentioned must not be permitted; they must be removed, or destroyed by any method or another. Weevil is our greatest difficulty in farming and for that reason vegetable matter should be properly incorporated in the soil whenever possible; but there are a great many cases where this can't be done, and yet should weevil be done, etc., remain about the winter they would find successful wintering.

PROMISES MARS SNAPSHOTS.

Snapshots of Mars as if the planet were little more than a mile and a half away are promised by B. McAfee, an American astronomer, in an article in the continental edition of the London Daily Mail, describing plans for the largest telescope ever conceived, which he says will prove whether life exists on Mars.

The instrument should be ready in 1924, when Mars will be nearer the earth than for a century, according to Mr. McAfee, who is planning the telescope of his estate near Danville, Va. Mr. McAfee says:

"Prof. Todd found a mine shaft at Channar, Chile, over which Mars will be at its zenith several times in 1924. We intend to use the shaft as the barrel of the telescope. It will be sheathed and will be 60 feet in diameter. The difficulty of a glass mirror will be solved by the use of a mixture of mine, a flat sheet of rock 50 feet in diameter on which mercury will be poured.

"The mine shaft is related to a certain speed of the surface mercury assumes the necessary concavity and forms a splendid mirror. Owing to the great limbo of the telescope, the light will be able to make a snapshot, instead of a time exposure. A magnification of twenty-five million will be possible, bringing Mars within a mile and a half. I am convinced that life exists on Mars, and expect to prove it."

Mr. McAfee will leave for Chile on the 10th of June. The next spring for preliminary work. Prof. Todd and he will remain in Channar throughout 1924.

WATER SHORTAGE FELT IN CHERAW

Cotton Mill Closes Down and Power Plant May Be Cancelled to Stop Flow.

Cheraw, Sept. 10. —The great scarcity of water in this section of the state is beginning to be serious. Not only are crops burning up and pastures dying, but mills are shutting down for want of power. The Cheraw cotton mill closed indefinitely yesterday for this reason, and the knitting mill may do so, it is said, and the Yalton River Power company may have to shut down for want of water at its generating plant above Rockingham, N. C. This will leave this and many other towns in the two States in total darkness.

It is many weeks since this section had a general rain, and the few local showers have not been enough to save the crops or break the hot wave.

$2.00 a Year

Accept, Only the Genuine.

Shares of Swift & Company are widely distributed. The map shows the numerous shareholders in each state and has been done to indicate the proportionate distribution.

Who is Swift & Company?

Swift & Company is not one man or one family. It is a company owned by more than 40,000 people scattered over the face of the globe—four thousand shareholders with voting powers and a share in the risks and profits of the business.

Most of the forty thousand live here in the United States. But some of them live in France, some in England, others in the Philippines, Hawaii, Alaska, 15,000 of them are women.

Nearly 14,000 of them are employed. The average individual holdings are small—about 37 shares apiece.

If one person or family owns a majority of the stock.

In fact, it would take 900 of the largest shareholders pooled together to vote 51 per cent of the stock.

These shareholders are the men and women whose money, in the form of capital, makes Swift & Company possible. They are jealous of the character and reputation of their organization, proud of what the name "The Swift & Company" is doing, proud to have a part in supplying to the world such products as Swift's Premium Ham and Bacon, Brookfield Sausage, Silvered Brand Pure Pork, Wool Soap, Swift & Company's fresh meats, etc.

The executives of Swift & Company maintain the high standards of these products from imperative duty not only to the 40,000 shareholders, but to the public.

"Once a very charming young woman presented a small check at my window," said the speaker at a recent bankers' convention, "she was transparently honest, but had no acquaintance with me, but her letters or other papers with her. I asked her if she had a handkerchief of her name or initials. After a moment's deep thought her face brightened and she asked: 'Would an into the present time every man who has been able to find some one who could replace Sidney Hillman, so far without success. His death would mean the reopening of another seven-year war in the clothing industry."

It has been charged that the textile section of organized labor had some sinister domination of foreign elements of leadership to a large extent. However, that it is a developed fact that this organization has appeared in a national state of unrest and fermentation, and has lobbied the idea, whether from leaders or not, that the chief aim of the textile union is to organize strikes. There can be no question about the fact that this organization would profit by the sort of trained and educated leadership the Chicago paper has suggested—Charlotte Observer.

For Torpid Liver

"Black-Draught is, in my opinion, the best liver medicine on the market," states Mrs. R. H. White, of Kent, Ohio, and continues: "I had a pain in my chest after eating light, unwholesome food, and this was very distressing. I was very indigestion and inactive. I began the use of Black-Draught, night and morning, and it sure is splendid and certainly gives relief."

Thedford's Black-Draught

For over seventy years this purely vegetable preparation has been found beneficial by thousands of persons suffering from biliousness, indigestion, flatulence, colic, constipation, loss of appetite, sleeplessness, lack of energy, pain in back, puffiness and other symptoms of liver trouble. You can't be too careful about the medicine you take. Be sure that the name "Thedford's Black-Draught" is on the package. At all drug stores.

WOMEN TAKE STAND AGAINST MOB LAW

Members of Georgia State Committee on International Cooperation.

Atlanta, Sept. 10. —An appeal against mob law was issued here tonight by a committee of more than a score of prominent Georgia women who are members of the Georgia State committee on international cooperation.

The special committee headed by Mrs. A. W. Lawton of Savannah adopted resolutions stating that while they appreciate the civility of men who will give their lives for the purity and safety of women, yet we feel constrained to declare our sentiments concerning the methods sometimes employed in the supposed protection.

The resolutions also urged the public to "speedily banish self-constituted guards and agencies which presume to set aside the dignity of the law and constitute the protectors, jurors, judges and executives of suspected criminals."

The committee also denounced the "double standard" of morals for men and women of any race, and announced its purpose of appointing subcommittees to study conditions among the negroes.

Educated Leaders The Need.

The recent strike in textile circles in this vicinity was just what the labor leaders made it. It could have been stopped almost as soon as it was started, because the mill men were stopped in doing their position, which was a determination to hold out to the last against the demands that had been made upon them. But the leaders held the men on strike to the last possible moment, and then the men went back to work under the exact conditions which existed at the time they went out. This influence by strike organizers and labor leaders has brought forth suggestions from The Chicago Evening Post that organized labor in the United States can make no better move than to turn its attention toward the education of leaders. For the progress of labor will depend largely on its ability to bring forward real statesmen. The American Federation has demonstrated that "the most solid forward steps are made when workers show themselves to be responsible and conservative, and the responsibility and conservatism of a group are largely dependent on the vision and judgment of the men on the platform. Such qualities are produced almost invariably only by long training—most often by actual experience, but they may be cultivated in many cases by careful academic work."

"The need for real leaders for labor at this time in the United States," remarks The Post, "is almost calamitous. Insipid of the number of his challenges and their numerous attempts to undermine him, it is hard to say what the American Federation would do without Mr. Sam Gompers."

For over seventy years this purely vegetable preparation has been found beneficial by thousands of persons suffering from biliousness, indigestion, flatulence, colic, constipation, loss of appetite, sleeplessness, lack of energy, pain in back, puffiness and other symptoms of liver trouble. to the present time every man who has been able to find some one who could replace Sidney Hillman, so far without success. His death would mean the reopening of another seven-year war in the clothing industry."

It has been charged that the textile section of organized labor had some sinister domination of foreign elements of leadership to a large extent. However, that it is a developed fact that this organization has appeared in a national state of unrest and fermentation, and has lobbied the idea, whether from leaders or not, that the chief aim of the textile union is to organize strikes. There can be no question about the fact that this organization would profit by the sort of trained and educated leadership the Chicago paper has suggested—Charlotte Observer.

For Torpid Liver

"Black-Draught is, in my opinion, the best liver medicine on the market," states Mrs. R. H. White, of Kent, Ohio, and continues: "I had a pain in my chest after eating light, unwholesome food, and this was very distressing. I was very indigestion and inactive. I began the use of Black-Draught, night and morning, and it sure is splendid and certainly gives relief."
